POMONA GRANGE, 23.

Minutes of the Meeting Held Recently at West Franklin.

TEXT OF RESOLUTIONS PASSED

Grangers Believe Government Should Assume Control of the Transportation Systems—Think Taxes Should Be More Evenly Distributed.

Pomona Grange, No. 23, of Bradford and Sullivan counties, held a delightful and interesting session at West Franklin Nov. 10 and 11. The program arranged was followed as closely as possible, several speakers being absent.

Friday Morning.

Called to order at 10:30. Minutes of last meeting read and approved. Reports of subordinate Granges show that Grange work is steadily growing throughout the district. Two new halls are nearly ready to dedicate and another was finished last year. Master appoints following committees: Resolutions, J. R. Vannoy, Frank Bailey, John Hunt, Mrs. B. Weller, Miss Florence Stevens. Applications, Lucy Stevens, Adaline Eele, Dan Green.

After discussing a few questions dinner was announced. Meals were served in the basement of the hall. The unique floral decorations elicited much admiration but the display of substantials merited and received the heartiest recognition.

Friday Afternoon.

Session called at 1:30 in the Baptist church. After a song by the Grange, J. S. Mott, in a few well chosen words extended a hearty welcome to the visitors, which was responded to by A. T. Lilley, a "minute man."

Hon. R. S. Edmiston was called for and occupied a little time in his usual interesting manner. He doesn't like to talk in Grange, "because you won't let me talk politics." Grangers are always glad of a chance to hear him speak. Mrs. A. M. Cornell then read a paper "The Essentials for a Happy Home." This was a most excellent paper.

The ideally happy home is the most powerful influence for good in the world. Music and good reading are refining essentials. Home is the keystone of humanity. Song by choir. Address by Hon. F. N. Moore. Mr. Moore is a farmer, and a farmer from choice. Men raised on the farm are more apt to make a success of life in any calling. Grange has done more and is doing more than any other organization for the farmer. Farmers must learn how to use more brains, good judgment, and common sense. The farmer can live as comfortably as his city brother, should beautify grounds and home. He showed a few of the unnecessary county expenses and how to correct them; one third existing laws should be changed, one-third dropped and remainder enforced. State should pay entire expense of school system.

San Jose Scale.

Bro. W. B. Packard, special agent and demonstrator under the division of zoology, a branch of the Departmetn of Agriculture spoke of the work this special department is doing to rid the State of the San Jose scale, which is so destructive to fruit trees and shrubbery, and unless checked will destroy the fruit industry of the country. He gave the life history of the pest, said it can be destroyed by proper spraying, at proper time, with a solution of lime, sulphur and salt which costs less than one cent per gallon. Mr. Packard will some time in the future call public meetings through the county to instruct in the preparation and use of solution. He expressed the hope that the farmers would see the need of prompt action and help the department by helping themselves. For full particulars of this pest, write to Prof. H. A. Surface, Harrisburg, for November bulletin.

Mr. Packard seems to understand the matter thoroughly and his presentation of facts convinced his hearers of the necessity of action to prevent spread of this insect pest. After a few questions the session was closed.

Officers Elected.

At the fifth degree session after initiating a large class of candidates the following officers were elected to serve for two years: Master, C. P. Shaw, Columbia Grange; overseer, R. D. Gray, Beech Flats; lecturer, Hon. L. T. Manley, Keystone Grange; steward, J. E. Bird, Elkand Grange; assistant steward, Avah Eele, Colley Grange; chaplain, Mrs. N. E. Lilley, Open Hand Grange; treasurer, Mrs. Louis Piollet, Wysauking Grange; secretary, Mrs. J. S. Mott, Towanda Valley Grange; gate keeper, Daniel Greene, Iowa Grange; L. A. Steward, Miss Alice Snyder, Spring Hill Grange; Pomona, Adaline Eele, Colley Grange; Flora, Mrs. W. Weller, Union Grange; Ceres, Mrs. N. D. Snyder, Spring Hill.

Finance committee: Asa S. Stevens, Robert Brown, J. S. Mott; executive committee: John Hunt, A. T. Lilley, J. R. Vannoy, L. S. Tyler, C. I. Beardsley. Deputies for one year, A. T. Lilley, A. S. Stevens, N. D. Snyder, J. E. Bird.

Friday Evening.

Duet by Misses Inez and Irene Stevens, "The Gates Ajar." A recitation by Miss Thersa Anderson, "My Courting Experience," brought the house down. She was called back. A paper by Mrs. Louis Piollet "Tomorrow," was a mesage of hope and inspiration. Miss Carrie Dodge recited and responded to an encre. Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Burroughs sang a duet, "A Warrior Bold," after which, in the absence of E. B. Dorsett of Wellsboro, W. B. Packard was called for and spoke briefly on responsibility of government, touching the immigration question, the old age pension law, and paid a glowing tribute to President Roosevelt.

Miss Grace Packard was called for nd responded with a recitation "The Whistling Regiment." F. N. Moore consented to favor the meeting with another talk and described in detail he new road law which is to go into effect Feb. 1, 1906.

Closed with song.

Saturday Morning.

Song by Grange. Report of Resolutions committee:

Whereas, The fundamental purpose of all law shall be to establish justice between strong and weak, large and small.

Therefore, be it resolved, That it is the sense of Bradford and Sullivan County Pomona Grange, held at West Franklin, Nov. 10 and 11, that the time has come for stringent governmental control of the transportation systems.

Be it further Resolved: That we earnestly concur in and will cooperate with the President of the United States, in the effort to enact such laws.

Also resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded our United States Senators and Members of the House, also a copy to the next State Grange.

Whereas, for many years past the tax payers on real estate within this county have asked, petitioned and prayed for a fair and equitable basis of taxation; their wishes have been ignored and they have been treated with contempt, their entreaties answered with increased burdens, therefore be it

Resolved, That in the future we should exercise any and all honorable means at our disposal to bring about a more fair and equitable basis of distribution of our public burdens.

Whereas, The order of Patrons of Husbandry stands for purity of the American house and is unalterably opposed to mormonism,

Resolved, That this Pomona Grange hereby petitions President Roosevelt and the U. S. Senate to use all honorable means in their power to prevent Reed Smoot from securing a seat in the Senate.

Resolved, That we request our U. S. Senators Boies Penrose and Philander C. Knox, also M. E. Lilley and other members of Congress to use all means at their disposal to have the federal statutes of 1896 relative to the regulation and sale of butter amended, so as to strike out the word "knowingly" in Sec. 6 of said act.

Resolved, That we learn with pleasure of the conviction of the guilty parties who have been defrauding the government by oleomargarine for pure butter at League Island and that we thankfully approve of the energetic efforts put forth by Dr. B. H. Warren in successfully prosecuting the case.

Resolved, That the members of Pomona Grange No. 23 express warm appreciation of the hearty welcome and most liberal entertainment by members of Towanda Valley Grange during this meeting, and a vote of thanks to the trustees of the Baptist church for the use of their edifice.

Report adopted as read.

Quartet by Lillie and Lulu Mott, J. N. and Harvey Wright, "Above the Clouds." Prof. James A. Bowles of Bernice, was introduced and held the close attention of all for a short time. He spoke of the possibilities of the Grange along three lines: Educational, a plea for teachers, dealing with human souls; a plea to the parents to encourage the teacher. Literary work should be arranged in Grange work, but watch that it be the right kind. Socially the grange is a factor in reducing narrowness; quoted Roosevelt in saying "A man is safe in making himself what his mother would like him to be." Were all men to practice this the standard of manhood would be raised. Fraternal. The Grange is uplifting the agricultural classes of America; encourage Christian belief and spirit of liberity.

The question box was opened and several questions discussed, some of them in quite a lively manner.

A petition to Judge Fanning and one to the county commissioners, asking that the fees of the county treasurer be reduced to $1500, per annum, and that the board of the prisoners be reduced to 25c per day, were adopted and sent by E. E. Chubbuck to a meeting in Towanda the same day.

Woman Bankrupt.

Mrs. Edna B. Elsbree of Athens township, formerly of West Sayre, has filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy. The liabilities, $9,000, assets, $11,000 of which $10,000 is real estate.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.

Memorial to the Late Louis M. Hall Was Adopted.

GRAND JURY PARTIAL REPORT.

Monday Was a Busy Day in Court With Returns of Constables and Argument—Citizens Composing the Grand Jury—Other Court Items.

Monday was the usual busy day in court with the quarterly returns of the constables of the county and the meeting of the grand jury. There was nothing of moment returned by the constables. Liston Bliss of Troy was made foreman of the grand jury and that body began its deliberations after being addressed upon its duties by Judge Fanning. The court called especial attention to the construction of bridges and said that as the result of investigations he thought that stone or concrete bridges should be used wherever practicable. He however, merely offered this as a suggestion and urged that the jurors discuss the subject here and when the different members return to their home districts. The high cost of iron bridges together with the increased cost and decreased durability of planking and the heavy drain on the county for painting makes the question one of moment for the taxpayers.

Memorial of L. M. Hall, Esq.

Later in the afternoon the bar passed a memorial upon the late Louis M. Hall, Esq., and remarks were made by Henry Streeter, Rodney A. Mercur, William Foyle and Judge Fanning. The committee apointed by the court, Henry Streeter, J. C. Ingham and I. McPherson, prepared a beautiful memorial upon the life of the distinguished lawyer mentioning his kindness and indulgence in his family life and his companionship and public spirit as a man.

His ability as a public speaker was praised and his exhaustive work on the subjects of "Trusts," which he was unable to complete before he died, was the embodiment of research and merit. As a lawyer he was singuarly successful and his great physical strength, combined with his brilliant mental qualities enabled him to endure the strain of protracted effort with comparative ease and his many triumphs were well deserved. He will long be remembered as an orator.

The order of the court was that the memorial should be filed of record and that a copy be sent to Mrs. Ulila T. Hall, widow of the deceased. Court was then adjourned for the remainder of the afternoon out of respect for the memory of the deceased.

NOTABLE WEDDING CELEBRATED AT TROY.

Dr. John W. Phillips Married to Miss Laura VanDyne.

A beautiful autumn wedding, elegant in its appointments, was celebrated in the presence of 150 guests at the home of Mrs. Edward VanDyne at 8 o'clock on Wednesday evening of last week, when her only daughter, Laura, became the bride of Dr. John Wesley Phillips, says a Troy correspondent.

An awning was stretched from the street to the porch, which was inclosed, and all was illuminated with electric lights. The decorations throughout the several rooms designed by Rawson, of Elmira, were exquisite in their arrangements, the colors being yellow and white blended with green. The guests were received by Mrs. Edward VanDyne, in a gown of black crepe-de chine, with diamonds, her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Everett E. Van Dyne, who was attired in black brussels net with duchesse lace collar, and sister, Mrs. Frances Copey, of Emira, also in black crepe-de-chine.

McHenry's orchestra, from Elmira, concealed in the hall discoursed sweetest music, playing Lohengrin's bridal chorus at the entrance of the bridal party. The bride's niece and nephew, Elizabeth Van Dyne, in a frock of white organdie, and Henry Van Dyne, caught the portieres of green with white ribbons to the newell post, forming the aisle through which the maid of honor, Miss Nan B. Mitchell, entered the living room, followed by the bride, attended by her brother, Everett E. VanDyne. They were met by the groom and his best man, Frederick E. Van Dyne, brother of the bride. The relatives of the bride formed on the right of the bridal party and the groom's friends on the left, after which all the guests entered to see vows plighted. A short ring service was used and Rev. E. P. Morse, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony.

The Wedding Gowns.

The maid of honor was attired in yellow crepe-de-chine with elaborate trimming of silk lace and carried yellow chrysanthemums. The charming bride wore a white messeline satin over taffeta, with a yoke and collar of rare duchesse lace. The gown was made princess en train. The tulle veil was gracefully caught with orange blossoms and the bride held a shower bouquet of bride's roses. Her ornaments were a beautiful guard ring, composed of a circlet of diamonds, the gift of the groom, and a magnificent Tiffany pendant of diamonds and pearls, the gift of her brother, Everett E. Van Dyne and wife.

After congratulations wedding cheer was abundant and the guests were served an elegant supper by St. Paul's Guild. The groom's gift to his best man was a set of seal cuff links, the bride's gift to her attendant being a brooch with a pearl setting, while to her niece was given a seal ring, and a pin to her nephew. The large display of rare and beautiful gifts were attractively arranged in the upper hall. Later in the evening the young couple left on a tour amid a shower of confetti, and upon their return they will reside in Troy. The bride wore a handsome tailored suit of gray broadcloth with hat to match. The departing guests were presented at the door with dainty boxes of wedding cake. The bride possesses many beautiful traits of character, which have endeared her to her countless friends. She holds a high position in both Troy and Elmira society. The groom is one of Troy's leading physicians and has a host of friends.

Steel Farm Buildings.

Steel buildings for farm purposes are coming into use more or less and in a few years may be quite common. F. E. Allen, who is about to remodel the barn on his farm east of town, has received an offer from a firm to construct a steel building equally large to take its place at one-third less than a wooden building can be put up by carpenters. Concrete or plank floors may be used, at the option of the owner. Such a building would not need to be insured against fire, a considerable saving in the life time of a man.—Tunkhannock Republican.

To Aid Russian Jews.

A subscription is being taken up in Towanda for the relief of the Jews in Russia who have suffered from the recent outrages which have been directed against them and to secure funds for the purpose of making a strong appeal to the Czar for protection from the government under which the Jews live and whose laws they have obeyed. N. Loewus has charge of the raising of funds here.

Award of Arbitrators.

Morris Shepard, Charles Scott and U. M. Fell have filed their award as arbitrators in the suit of D. A. Cron vs. Philip Brennan. Cron alleged that sparks from Brennan's traction engine set fire to his timber land in Wysox township. Damages of $125 were awarded by the arbitrators. William Maxwell and S. Bergen Park represented the plaintiff and W. E. Lane the defendant.

TRAVELING LIBRARIES

Grand Work Being Done by the State of Pennsylvania.

METHOD OF PROCEDURE USED

Scores of "Study Circles" Are Scattered All Over the State—Residents of Small Villages Are Provided With the Best Books.

Under the direction of Thomas Lynch, state librarian, Pennsylvania is doing a magnificent work in the towns and villages of the state, says a Harrisburg dispatch.

As the State Library is supported and maintained by taxation, it is now held that every citizen of the Commonwealth has a legitimate claim on the institution, and, so far as is practicable, the library is now open to the needs of all. At this time there are 200 traveling libraries which are sent in rotation to 276 different places.

When the number of libraries does not equal the number of applications, it frequently happens that several circles do not care to have their orders filled immediately, and in this way the 200 libraries are made to travel to as many different centres as possible.

People have little conception of the work that is being done thus with the State Library. Scattered throughout Pennsylvania there are scores of "study circles." Many are in villages which afford no opportunity at all for proper research. These circles are interested in all kinds of subjects—art literature and science.

Method of Operation.

From one of them will come a request for the number of books allotted. Possibly the students are delving into the history of Italian art. Their list, then, is made up of books relating to this subject.

It may happen that some of the books are not in the Pennsylvania State Library. If that shoulld be the case, Mr. Montgomery immediately sends to the Philadelphia Library or to the Congressional Library at Washington, and the books are secured without trouble and forwarded at once to the circle.

In this way the residents of a village are provided with all the best facilities that the libraries of this country can afford—and that, too, without leaving their own homes.

The inter-library arrangement, which has recently been made, enables different state librarians to secure almost any book for which a request is filed. What is not in one library will almost certainly be in another, and the case of books thus called for is generally of such a special nature that not more than one circle asks for them at the same time.

Last week, for instance, Mr. Montgomery received a request from Cleveland, O., for a certain genealogical work which is in the Pennsylvania library. The book was sent at once. In all probability that book will not be called for by any person until long after its return to the shelves.

Of course, if it should happen that any person in Pennsylvania should call for a volume loaned outside the state, Mr. Montgomery would at once send for it, and would also assure the person asking for it that the book would be sent to his home when returned.

Very Little Red Tape.

It is obviously not expedient with the limited funds now available for traveling libraries to send more than one library to one place, unless there be geographical reasons which make the different parts of a village independent of each other and which render intercourse more or less difficult. A river cutting through a town, as is the case in some places, makes practically two different centres, and in such instances two libraries would not be refused, provided there was sufficient money on hand to send them.

There is very little red tape in securing one of those traveling libraries. A person wishing to form such a library must send to the State Librarian for the few printed regulations on the subject. The rest is easy.

Persons who wish the books can then send in their names, getting some responsible person to vouch for them. The regulations refer mainly to the length of time that persons can keep books, to the mode of packing and returning them, to fines which must necesarily be imposed for any abuse of the book, and to the manner of sending in lists for a new library.

Efforts to Avoid Dissension.

Any circle which is formed in a town should be placed in its personnel, non-partisan and non-sectarian.

Mr. Robert Bliss, secretary of the Keystone Library Association, has been going through the State—at present he is working in the eastern portion. Where petty jealousies have crept in because of the personnel of a library circle he has urged reorganization on a much broader scope.

Jenkintown has a library 100 years old; interest in it had been waning, but through the efforts of Mr. Bliss enthusiasm was aroused and the people resolved to put new life into it. A new institution could never have possessed the historic value of this old collection of books and when the people were once interested in the subject they soon put it on a firm basis. The State Library gave aid at first, but now such help is hardly needed.

Fifty-two circles have been started since Jan. 1, 1905. The appropriation this year is just twice as much as it has been heretofore, being $12,500 a year. In rural districts traveling librarians are sent to schools under the supervision of the teacher.

The state granges, the Federation of Women's clubs and the members of the legislature are all asked by the state librarian to make the work of the traveling libraries known throughout the state.

A TRIP TO CANADA.

Towandians Will Witness the Opening of New Electric Road.

A party of Towanda gentlemen interested in the new electric railroad in Canada, the Chatham, Wallaceburg & Lake Erie road, several of them accompanied by their wives, left Monday afternoon in a special car attached to train No. 1, to attend the formal opening of the road Tuesday.

The party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Ellenberger, Dr. and Mrs. T. B. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. U. M. Fell, Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Kizer, Dr. and Mrs. C. Henri Lane, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Carter, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Edward Miller, B. F. Myer, E. B. McKee, D. T. Evans, J. A. Decker and George R. Hill. Guy H. Davies went over the Erie road to Buffalo, and at Athens the party were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Vine Crandall and M. P. Murray. The majority of the party reached home on Wednesday night.

Forming a Combine.

A well defined rumor is current to the effect that the Lehigh Valley, Reading and Pennsylvania are to form a combine for the further advancement of the anthracite trade. In this instance "further advancement" means that the companies referred to are to form a coal trust. The three companies now control about 75 per cent of the anthracite trade and a communion of interests is expected to force the smaller companies into line.

Haymaker's Officers.

At a regular meeting of the Towanda Haymakers association the following officers were elected: Past Chief Haymaker, C. P. Vosburg; Chief Haymaker, F. H. Johnson; Asst. Chief, C. L. McNamara; Overseer, Eanus Granger; Steward, T. A. Curran. The association will hold its next smoker on Tuesday evening, Nov. 28. Everybody come.

Many Appendicitis Cases.

Mrs. Harlow Webb of Lake Wesauking has gone to the hospital at Sayre for an operation for appendicitis. There are a number of persons from the vicinity of Lake Wesauking and Shores Hill who have had the same serious trouble and it almost seems as if the disease was epidemic.

We have a friend whose share of the corn crop—one-half—during 1904 paid him $13 per acre rent for the use of his land.

Mexico has a short crop of cereals this year and proposes to remove the tariff duties on grain imported. There is nothing like hunger to give a people contempt for the tariff.

Fifty bushels of good corn from the acre of $100 land is a very good proposition when it sells for 50 cents a bushel, for it leaves a net profit of over $15 per acre, and this is a good rate of interest on $100 land.

In the Philippines the natives call the American schools "clerk shops," this because they claim that as soon as a Filipino gets educated he knows too much to work. We have something of this kind in this country.

It costs about $40 to grow a ton of broom corn brush, and as it now sells for about $100 per ton it is one of the paying crops. The great trouble connected with the growing of this crop is the difficulty of securing the help at the right time to care for it.

Just as soon as a man is placed in a country where it is summer all the year round, where little clothing is needed and a food supply is easy to get, just so soon he becomes lazy and no 'count. It has always been this way and always will be. It is always and ever work, and hard work, which makes the man.

Where a breechy bull breaks down a lawful fence along the right of way of a railway company and is caught by a train and killed, is the company liable for the value of the animal? In law it is not, but most companies in such cases would rather pay than bother over a lawsuit to recover damages. In all such cases the bull nearly always brings more than he would at any well advertised sale of pedigreed stock.

The crow is largely a scavenger, an unclean bird. A dead animal never gets too dead for its appetite, and a nest full of eggs partly incubated is a titbit for this black cannibal. All birds fight and make war on the crows, and with good reason. Wherever crows are plentiful there all other birds are few. It is only insectivorous in its habits by compulsion and belongs to the carnivora in an ornithological way. Crows, rabbits and sparrows are pests of our modern civilization and should be destroyed on sight.

The crop losses of the west and northwest this season have been almost entirely from water and not from frost or drought. The great need of this section is to get rid of just such an excess of rainfall as we have had this year. Millions of acres of corn were ruined by having wet feet during June and July, preventing proper cultivation and retarding development at a critical time; another million acres of small grain were drowned out. The truth is that hardly a farm can be anywhere found where more or less underdrainage would not pay a hundredfold. The profits of the year could well be invested in this sort of work.

We always like to have the winter come on gently and easy, the nights growing a bit colder each week as the sun sinks a little farther and farther south, the first snow just a sprinkle, soon to melt away, the trees gradually shifting from their summer green to their winter browns and grays, have the wild fowl work slowly south and tarry awhile and have nature leisurely go about preparing for the long cold winter and not have an ideal Indian summer day wind up with a roaring north wind and big snows, catching everybody unprepared and sending the wild fowl at a hundred mile an hour clip toward the south country, the merciless cold finding every crack in house and barn.

We are asked what grasses will best renovate a wornout soil. All grasses are good for this purpose, but some are much better than others. Any grass which has to be pastured off and which cannot be well removed from the soil save by pasturing it will always help the soil. Conspicuous in this class is blue grass. Then we have the clover family, which possesses the peculiar property common to the legumes of being able to extract fertility from the atmosphere and deposit it in the soil, the common red clover being the best adapted for all dry, arable land, the alsike clover for all wet lands and the white clover as a partner, and a good one, too, for the blue grass pasture. Alfalfa where it will do well is a remarkable soil fertilizer. The very first step in the redemption of a wornout farm is to get it to grow some kind of grass, and if this is impossible then it may be regarded as a hopeless proposition. The natural process of soil restoration in the south, where the land was worked out to a finish by cotton culture, was first abandonment by man, then weeds, brush and brier, then young trees, then a forest, and in fifty years man can come back and repeat his havoc and robbery.

ROAD IMPROVEMENT.

Wherever dirt roads have to be worked and cared for—and that is throughout most of the rural districts of the country at large—there may be noted a very marked improvement of methods as compared with the old way. A more intelligent and permanent plan of operation is being followed. The road boss this year is no longer undoing and tearing to pieces what his predecessor did last year, the absolute need of a thorough drainage of the highway is being generally recognized, and the value of drain tile for this purpose is being more and more appreciated; there is apparent a much more economical and effective expenditure of the road funds, and it is really becoming the custom now to expect and demand a full day's work for a day's pay—in a word, the people are taking a much greater interest in the highways than ever before and are at last waking up to the important relation which good roads bear to the economy of farm life; the rural mail delivery system is doing not a little to spur the farmers up, for the government puts the matter to them flat—"no roads, no mail." Under the new method of caring for earth roads it is becoming quite a common thing to find farmers dragging and keeping the highways along their respective farms in fine shape and doing it all without public pay just for the pleasure and pride which they take in having good roads associated with their farms. This is one of the most encouraging signs of agricultural progress to be observed in the country today.

Here are two things worth remembering on the farm: Barnyard manure is worth a dollar a load put out on the cornfield, and fertilizer from the poultry yard and henhouses when composted with two-thirds its bulk of earth is worth $2 a load, and still there is lots of this valuable material going to waste around many a homestead.

We do not think that the territory of the eastern states and of the central west has any use for alfalfa save as a hog pasture. The crop will not work in any course of rotation, and the heavy rains of June and July often make it almost impossible to cure and save the first two cuttings of the crop, but it has a use and a most important one in connection with the hog, and no farm should be without five acres of alfalfa for its sole value as a hog pasture.

A man never makes any money out of a machine unless it is working. Now, the cow is a machine pure and simple, and if she is not kept at work there is no profit in keeping her, and to get something out of her there must be something put into her, and the man who thinks he can make money by scrimping the feed of his cows is very shortsighted. The cow should be fed up to the limit of her ability to assimilate food if she is to be made profitable.

Where the writer lives thousands of sheep are being shipped in from Montana and Wyoming and being turned into the corn fields to harvest the crop and incidentally fatten themselves for market. The plan works very satisfactorily unless there is too much rain; then there is some waste. The sheep is a dainty feeder and rarely wastes its food, as does the hog. This plan has many advantages—it saves the cost of harvesting the crop, it fertilizes the field and it gets all the weeds cleaned up if the sheep are turned in early enough.

Reports of hog cholera are beginning to come in from different sections, and so we may begin to look out for all sorts of fake cures for this disease. It is just as well to remember that in spite of all the claims made that this plague can be cured there is no discovered cure for it. The prompt disposal of all well animals, the isolation and starvation of the sick ones and a complete change of location seem to be the only course to pursue when an outbreak occurs. The overfeeding with new corn seems to always invite the disease, and it is probably true that if all hogs were fed a better balanced ration the disease would largely disappear.

We are asked what the post timber of the future is to consist of, a question of no little importance, in view of the rapid destruction of all our forests and the almost entire absence of any well directed effort to replace them. There is more than a possibility that the fence post of the future will be made of cement. Cement posts are already being made and used with success. The future is quite likely to see machines costing but little which will enable every farmer to make his own fence posts and secure posts which will be practically indestructible. When such posts can be furnished at 25 cents apiece, as they will be, there is no need to worry over the failing supply of oak and cedar posts, which are now worth 15 cents each.

With a pretty large crop of good corn in farmers' hands all through the corn belt a good many are wondering whether they had better hold the crop, now worth about 35 cents, feed it and make meat out of it or sell it. The crop this year is a safer proposition to hold than for several years past, for it ripened naturally, unhurt by either frost or drought, and will keep well. The government estimate of the crop, 2,600,000,000 bushels, if correct, would seem to forecast lower prices in any but these prosperous years, but the fact remains that there is no probability of cheap corn, there seeming to be a good demand for every bushel. The truth is that so many new and important uses have been discovered for corn that it will never be cheap again. If we could buy good feeders around 3 cents we would feed a part of the crop at least. If we were paying interest on obligations we would sell enough to square up. If we could not get the steers and owed no man we would hold the crop till next summer.

FARM WASTES.

The farmer can well afford to pattern after the manufacturer in the matter of being vigilant and inventive in the way of trying to utilize the wastes of his business—waste acres of land which produce nothing but weeds, waste of the fertilizers in the barnyards, waste weeds in the fields, waste along the line fences, waste for want of a little tiling, waste in granaries and cribs from leaks and vermin, waste in keeping and milking cows which only just barely pay for the food which they eat, waste in buying on credit and running up store bills, waste in poorly stacked hay, wasted fodder in the cornfields, stacks, or, rather, piles, of good straw spoiled for want of proper stacking, waste in burning green wood and lugging water where the wind should force it where it is needed, in trying to make first quality beef and pork out of poorly bred and often poorly fed steers and hogs, and the waste which is inevitably associated with a man being a little behind with his work. There is a great field for work along all these lines, for it is the dollar saved as well as the dollar earned which has much to do with farm profits. The manufacturer keeps the sharpest sort of an outlook for the wastes of his business and is ever alert to adopt methods for the utilization of waste products. The tailings of the gold and silver mines, the possibilities and economic value of city garbage, the slag piles of the blast furnace, the sawdust from the sawmills, the offal of slaughter houses, the grease in the wool of the sheep, have made enormous fortunes for the men who were wise enough to take hold of these heretofore waste products, while cotton seed, once used as a fertilizer alone, coal tar and the byproducts of corn used in the glucose factories represent millions of money invested and other millions in annual dividends. A man is always well and patriotically engaged when he devises a method to prevent or utilize a waste, and nowhere in the whole country is there a larger field for effort along this line than on the farms of the country. The wastes on many a western farm would constitute a good year's income for the small farmer in Vermont.

A FARM AS AN INVESTMENT.

A friend having a few thousands which is only returning him 4 per cent interest wants to know whether he can put it into a farm on the basis of $100 per acre and by hiring the work done or by letting the farm out on shares secure a better return for his money. It is not easy to answer this question, for so much would depend upon the farm itself, upon his general knowledge of how to run a farm if he chose to carry it on under his own supervision or on the sort of tenant he secured if he let it out on a share rent. If his farm of, say, 160 acres cost him $16,000 he would have to secure a net return of $640 to equal his present income from his money, and, do the best he might, he would be quite as likely to get less as he would to exceed this amount; not that it is not easily possible to make a better showing than 4 per cent, but usually farming at long range or by proxy is seldom a large interest producer. The profits as well as the losses in farm operations are connected with the little things to a great extent, and little leaks will soon empty a big barrel. If our friend could live on the farm himself and credit to the farm what it is fairly worth as a home it would alter the case, for the single item of house rent alone would represent about one-half of $640, and, again, his living expenses would be greatly reduced as compared with living in a city, where everything must be bought at high prices. He had probably better be satisfied with his 4 per cent rather than undertake to make it more by handling a farm located where he can only see it a few times during the year.

Modern business life is of that strenuous type that twenty years of it will about finish up a man, while the farmer can keep a-going till he is seventy.

A coating of well rotted stable manure put on the lawn just at the beginning of winter will make the grass both thicker and greener next summer.

We can all have oranges to eat this winter. Florida will have 1,500,000 boxes and California will have about 30,000 carloads, and the chances are that the men who eat them will make more money out of them than the man who produced them.

The best all round remedy for rats is cats. A half dozen cats, preferably old tabbies with a kitten or two, if given a ration of new milk twice a day will put in most of their time in laying for the rats. This beats traps, ferrets, poison and all other remedies ever tried.

His First Intimation.

"How did you find out you could draw?" inquired the admirer of the celebrated illustrator.

"By the marks I received in school for the excellence and fidelity of my work," replied the eminent one. "My work was a caricature of my beloved teacher on the blackboard and the marks came from the teacher's cane."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A Pessimist.

"Don't be too anxious to get a husband," said the wise matron. "Don't go around hunting for one."

"Think I should just sit down and wait for one, eh?" replied the maiden.

"Yes, for you'll sit up and wait for one often enough after you've got him."

BOLD THIEF AT CANTON.

Bacon, Ronan & Company's Store Robbed—Thief Caught Later.

Considerable excitement was occasioned at Canton Tuesday morning by the announcement that the large dry goods and clothing store of Bacon, Ronan & Co. had been burglarized and that clothing, underwear and money from the money drawers had been stolen and that the thief was so bold that he even took fine overcoats out of the front window.

Admittance was made by breaking out the plate glass window in the rear of the store. The noise was heard by Charles Decker who lives within sight of the window who dressed, picked up a revolver and came out of the house and listened but could hear nothing and went back in.

Word was sent out Tuesday morning in many directions for the culprit and soon after word was received from Roaring Branch that a man had been captured by Dr. Castelbury who answered to the description and was wearing new clothes. A Canton officer went down there and brought back the man who was arraigned at Canton Tuesday afternoon. He gave his name as Frank Jones and pleaded not guilty while at the time he had on clothes which were from the store which was robbed. Jones has been employed near Canton and has worked for Guy Landon at East Canton. He had been in this store many times lately and Monday night registered at the Canton House but did not claim the room.

The store was pretty generally ransacked for money and the money drawers broken open but the large safe was intact and the amount of money stolen from the drawers it is said was small. Jones was taken to Towanda and will make his residence with the sheriff.

Where the Famous Diphtheria Cure May Be Had in Bradford County.

Under the new law providing for free antitoxin for the cure of diphtheria to those patients financially unable to secure the treatment. The Commissioner of Health, Samuel G. Dixon, has established the following stations in this county for the free distribution of antitoxin. The antitoxin in curative and immunizing doses may be secured by physicians at these depots after they have certified to the distributor that no charge for the serum is to be made and that the financial circumstances of the patients are such as to make the expense of the antitoxin burdensome. May—Miller.

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Emerson Miller, at Miller's Pond, Ridgebury township, at 7 o'clock on Wednesday evening of last week, when his daughter, Nora, was united in marriage to Stephen W. May, in the presence of 65 relatives and friends. The bride wore a handsome blue traveling gown and carried a shower bouquet of white carnations. She was attended by Miss Mary Miller, her sister, the best man being Merle Berry. The Rev. Seymour Barrett, of Roseville, performed the impressive ceremony, after which a fine wedding supper was served. The gift room was filled with beautiful presents. Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. May left for a brief trip amid a shower of rice.

Holiday Recipes.

It may be remembered that with a former Thanksgiving number of the Philadelphia Sunday Inquirer a cook book was issued as a special supplement and the entire edition was sold out early in the day. So great was the demand and so many requests have since been received for copies that The Inquirer now makes the announcement that it has had prepared a new cook book of 32 pages, filled with the newest, well-tried and up-to-date recipes, handsomely printed and tastefully illustrated in colors. This will be given away free with every copy of the great Thanksgiving Number of The Philadelphia Sunday Inquirer, next Sunday, November 26.

TOWANDA, PA., NOV. 23, 1905.

If we may be allowed to judge, Senator Depew will in the future steer clear of at least two selections—"Blesed Insurance" and "Let me 'Hyde' myself in thee."—Susquehanna Transcript.

Berwick capitalists have a plan under consideration to harness the Nescopeck falls in the river at that place, expecting to generate 12,500 horse power. This would be furnished at a low figure to industrial plants.

Railroad Magnates James Hill, is 67, A. J. Cassatt is 66, Margin Haughitt is 64 and E. T. Jeffrey, Roswell Miller and Thomas Lowry own up to 62 each. Of 17 of the most prominent railorad men in the country, not one is under 50 years old.

Ian Maclaren, who is retiring from the Congregational ministry, says: "If I were beginning instead of closing my career, I would be careful about three things in particular; I should preach shorter sermons; I should be more attentive to my English, and I should preach more comfortingly."

A swindler has been successfully operating in Slate Run and vicinity. He claimed to represent a Chicago clothing house. He took the measures of his victims for suits at very low figure, promising to forward them in new suit cases, for all of which he only demanded the small sum of $3.00 in advance. It is unnecessary to state that the garments failed to show up.

Berwick is a greatly favored town at the present time. She has immense foundries and shops, turning out hundreds of cars and other products. Since Aug. 1, 1905, sixteen miles of Erie box cars have been built at the plant of the American Car and Foundry company. The order was for 5,000 cars and they are all large capacity box cars with steel frames.

Labor, male and female, is very scarce in the Southern states. A Savannah factory has been advertising for several weeks for 500 girls. Arrangements have been made to settle 10,000 Italian and Mexican families in Louisana. In the Birmingham, Ala., district 20,000 men are wanted and cannot be had. All through the South cotton mills and compresses are short of hands.

At the meeting of the Mine Conciliation Board in Wilkesbarre President Connell, one of the operators, suggested that it might be a good idea to have a referendum vote of the miners on the question of continuing the board in power after its three year term expires. President Dettry, of the Mine Workers, was impresed by the suggestion and will discuss it with his associates. It may result in the development of a plan for continuing the Conciliation Board system of settling grievances.

Those who have such a dread of appendicitis may receive comfort from the fact that by the time they get the disease a remedy of a German physician may be on the market. The remedy is a German solution which, it is claimed, will cure troubles of the appendix in short order. The solution is known as "collongol" and if it will do what is promised for it, one of the greatest discoveries of medical science will be recognized. It will rob appendicitis of its terror—an operation under the surgeon's knife.

These are record-breaking days in a hundred different lines. And when the iron producing records are smashed it means something to a nation in whose progress iron and steel have played such an important part as in ours. The monthly statistics of the Iron Age show that there were produced by the anthracite and coke furnaces of the United States 2,053,127 tons of pig iron, which compares with the previous achievement of 1,963,717 tons in May. Both figures do not include the output of charcoal pig, which may be estimated at about 30,000 tons a month. The steel companies produced 1,370,960 tons in October, as compared with 1,287,438 tons in May. It would be of interest to have Pennsylvania's share in this remarkable iron and steel record set forth definitely. This is a great iron manufacturing state, and our unbounded prosperity is indicated, in a measure, by the figures printed above.

REAPPORTIONMENT.

One of the purposes for which the special session of the Pennsylvania legislature is called is: "To reapportion the state into senatorial and representative districts." This will present one of the most difficult questions which will come up, as the change which would be made according to the state constitution, would take from a number of the smaller counties at least one of their representatives. Bradford would be one of those counties which would thus be deprived of one of its members of the house at Harrisburg. The larger counties and especially where there are cities like Philadelphia, Pittsburg and Scranton, will be the gainers.

It is probable that those districts which will be losers will put up a stiff fight to retain their present representation but if the gainers are disposed to pass the legislation that is demanded by the constitution there can be no obstructing the passage of the reapportionment bill. Members of the house are to be elected by the voters of the various counties next year and candidates are already getting their political fences in shape. Whether the bill will take effect at once or will not become operative until the election succeeding next year's, is a matter which this paper has not seen discussed.

The apportionment of the senatorial districts will be made, of course, if that of the representative districts is, and there may be a change in the county which is hitched on to Bradford. While it would be generally regretted that Bradford should lose a member of the house, in time the sore spot would pass away and it might mean that with more candidates for but two offices the successful candidates would be men of the highest standing in the community combined with qualifications as legislators which would make them heard from on the right side of every question at Harrisburg. Bradford county could have no better advertisement than brainy, well equipped men at the state capital. If the county can only have two representatives they must have the qualifications of three to make matters even up. Let the aspirants plume themselves and prepare for the fatal election day.

AGAINST THE SALOON.

The National Grange, Patrons of Husbandry, went on record at Atlantic City Monday in favor of temperance and the curtailment of saloons declaring, "That they should be abridged until they are abolished." A resolution says: "Every community should be empowered by law to vote every saloon from its midst or its borders." The grange strongly condemned all influences brought to win legislation by lobbyists or others and deplored the use of money in campaigns. "The recent agitation," says a resolution, "in regard to extravagance in the management of our great financial institutions, the exposure of graft in high places and the enormous power exercised by great transportation companies have aroused the people to a realization of the necessities of vigorous action if they would protect themselves against the inordinate desires of wealth."

Among other resolutions adopted during the day was one strongly urging congress to enact a law to prohibit the making of cigarette papers as well as cigarettes.

The grangers at the afternoon session took up the labor question in a resolution calling upon congress to modify the existing exclusion laws to alleviate the lack of farm labor.

Most of the townships of Bradford county are now traversed by telephone lines. But there are some districts which are hardly touched by this great modern convenience. In these sections the farmer and his wife should get busy. The farm without a telephone will be a back number in a few years if he is not already. It doesn't take such a great deal of labor and expense to build a farmers' mutual line which can be connected with either the "Bell" lines or those of the Bradford county Independent company and connection made with the outside world. The farm is brighter and better with the telephone. Make it a better place if you have not already done so. And when a line is built build it well—no equipment just because it is cheap but an equipment which will mean that when the line is ready for business it will talk.

The determination to rid foot ball of its brutality will meet with success if the student body of the great American universities demands it. Mucker foot ball is only played where mucker sentiment permits it. As long as it is deemed proper and sportsmanlike to kick players in the head in order to put them out of the game or to twist a leg if it is known that the leg is a trifle game, so long will foot ball be little better than fashionable prize fighting where you can hit below the belt or bite your rivals or scratch their eyes out. If the universities really want clean foot ball instead of 22 mad bulls turned loose to eat each other up they can get it. Good officials are a great help in the clean-up business.

The Reporter-Journal covers the news of the whole county every week.

LEADERSHIP AND BOSSISM.

One short year ago the Durham-McNichol organization controlled absolutely the Republican party in Philadelphia and Pennsylvania, Geo. B. Cox was the undisputed dictator of the party in Ohio, Gorman was the Democratic big boss in Maryland, Tammany's supremacy in New York was unquestioned, and Massachussetts and Rhode Island had just elected Democratic Governors. At the recent election the Durham organization was swept out of power by 50,000 majority and the State went Democratic by a majority nearly double that. In Ohio the Republican party was overwhelmed by the biggest Democratic majority ever given in that state, Gorman was turned down in Maryland, Tammany elected a nominee for Mayor by so narrow a margin as to be almost a defeat, Massachusetts substituted a Republican instead of a Democrat for Governor while Rhode Island had the biggest Republican sweep in fifteen years.

Practical politicians know that a great complex movement like a popular election does not hapen. It does not come by chance. There is always a chief cause for the main result. While local issues, like those which came to the front in Philadelphia this year, affected the result in that city and the state, yet the great underlying cause of the wide spread revolt which was felt in so many places, cannot be ascribed to local questions alone. Like causes prouce like results for human nature is everywhere the same, and if we examine closely the causes for the recent political turns it will be found that the same causes defeated the Republican party in Ohio, brought disaster, also, in Penna., and that the same causes that helped to defeat Gorman in Maryland elected Jerome in New York city.

Senator Foraker, a most astute and experienced campaigner, reviewing the result in Ohio said:

"The defeats we have sustained in the city and the State have no relation to national politics, but are due solely to local and other causes. Whether right or not, the belief obtains that the great mass of voters have not had any proper representation in nominating conventions and that a man with an ambition to engage in public service had no opportunity unless he was fortunate enough to be put on a pre-arranged slate. It was natural to expect that sooner or later this would be resented. In large part that is what the defeats of the election meant. It will be easy to cure this trouble. The way is to return to the old-fashioned practice of having real conventions, at which all who aspire to nominations will have an equal chance. There were other causes that contributed to our defeat that will occur to every one familiar with the situation."

Ohio has been bossed beyond the limit of endurance. Cox has ruled so despotically, and perhaps so corruptly, that the manly men of his party would not stand for him any longer. Secretary Taft said that he would not support the Cox ticket in Cincinnati if he were to be home to vote. Such plain speaking is the infallable mark of leadership that does not shrink from the last resource of action if necessary to destroy bossism. Another political leader, Thurlow Weed, whose political sagacity in his day and generation were even more respected and honored, said on a certain occasion, that the last nominee need not be chosen in advance because "we must leave something to the convention."

The reaction of last election day was against bossism and not against leadership. The true leader is always wanted, and always is received with open arms by the organization to which he belongs. The danger of revolt is that it may be carried too far and land in mere factionalism. Of course party control is fully in the hands of the people themselves and if their leaders are found to be selfish, corrupt, arrogant and unfaithful to their trust, there is always the remedy applied at the polls to swelled heads, the cooling, astringent ballot.

Mr. Roosevelt gained his position in public confidence and esteem as a leader and never a boss. He never even bolted the nomination of his party but always steadily fought on for the good cause while trying to get his party to go with him as far as he could persuade it to travel in the direction he desired. He has trusted the people and has appealed to them in every case of doubt. When he was told in 1898 that he was beaten for Governor he said he would hire a train and go out to see about it. He went out and because of his personal resort to the populace he came back with the Governorship secured.

State Senator Oscar E. Thomson, of Chester county, and William Wayne, Franklin March, Fred H. Cope, and W. A. P. Thompson, members of the house of representatives for that county, have sent a letter to Governor Pennypacker pledging their support to the governor for the proposed legislation specified in his special session proclamation. They inform the governor that they will not accept any compensation for their services in the extra session. Is the millenium approaching or has it already arrived?

"MY MAMIE ROSE."

"My Mamie Rose," the story of the regeneration of a man who could neither read nor write until he was 30 years of age and whose occupation in life was living by his fists and his wits, is a book of rare interest and suggestion. Its author, Owen Kildare, was a child of the Bowery in New York. Kicked out of his foster father's home, he becomes a newsboy and then by the exercise of his prowess with his fists a champion newsboy, then a prize fighter and a general tough.

One day one of his pals made an insulting remark to a passing girl. Something aroused Kildare's sense of decency and he knocked the man down. He walked on with the girl and went as far as her home, saying nothing because in his life of brutality he had learned nothing to say to a respectable woman. Each day he escorted this young woman home. She proved a school teacher. Gradually the girl, who was one of those rare spirits of sweetness who can meet with men of bad characters and lead them right instead of being led wrong, gained such a control over Kildare that he began to study and more, to work. This began the regeneration which began in redeeming himself and culminated in love. The story is a true one and is told by the man himself.

There are hundreds of tough men and boys in our cities and towns. Some of them recognize only the standard of physical brutality in their estimates of themselves and their fellows. They have not yet met a 'Mamie Rose." Their hearts, perhaps, have never been touched by a bond of sympathy. Their characters are all potential with nothing actual. A million "Mamie Roses" could aid this old world greatly and save the Owen Kildares from the brutal life of the bum and the idler to one which knows right, justice, intelligence and a love for what is good and beautiful.

The annual distrbuton of vegetable and flower seeds of the Department of Agriculture will begin on Dec. 1, and before planting time, it is expected, the entire amount, aggregating 38,000,000 packages, will be in the hands of the people in all sections of the country. Congress for the past several years has apropriated $290,000 for this purpose.

GRASSHOPPER BATTLE.

How the Conflict Between Indian Tribes Was Brought About.

Hendrick B. Wright, in his Historical Sketches of Plymouth, says:

"Mr. Chapman, in his history, is under the impression that most of the Shawnees had left Plymouth before the advance of the white man in 1769; and that at this period the Delaware, who resided on the east side of the Susquehanna, and nearly opposite, had become proprietors of the Shawnee plains, and the evacuation of the Shawnees is based upon the consequence of their defeat by the Delawares in the memorable Grasshopper batte. The circumstances which led to the battle, I will briefly relate.

"A number of the Delaware squaws, with their children, were gathering wild fruits along the eastern bank of the river, some two miles below their village, which stood on the lower side of the present limits of the city of Wilkes-Barre, where they met with some squaws and their children of the Shawnee tribe, who had crossed the river in their canoes for the same purpose.

"A child belonging to the Shawnees had taken a large grasshopper, and a quarrel arose among the children for the possession of it, in which their mothers soon took part. The Delaware women contending that the east side of the river was their property, persisted in their right to the grasshopper and the feminine conflict terminated in the explusion of the Shawnee squaws over to the west side. And it is asserted, though I apprehend upon very questionable authority, that some of these women were killed in this engagement.

"The expulsion of the Shawnee women irritated and maddened their husbands, and the consequence was a declaration of war on the part of the Shawnees against the Delawares. The Shawnees embarked in their canoes, but were met by the Delawares before they could obtain a foothold upon the east bank of the river; but still they were able to effect a landing, and a bloody conflict ensued at the great bend of the river, immediately above the present railroad bridge. It is said that nearly half of the Shawnees fell upon the battlefield. They were certainly driven back to their own side of the stream."

SENATOR PENROSE TALKS OF THE SPECIAL SESSION.

Says the Measures Proposed Will Probably All Pass.

United States Senator Penrose has returned from his southern hunting trip and he spent the greater portion of Thursday at the Republican headquarters at Philadelphia. He also held a conference with Henry F. Walton, speaker of the House, relative to the governor's calls for an extra session of the legislature and the vacancies to be filled in several districts. In an interview Senator Penrose said:

"In my opinion every reform measure recommended by the governor in his call for the special session will be enacted by the legislature. The Republican State organization will lend its aid to this end and will most likely introduce bills covering all the subjects enumerated by Governor Pennypacker in his call. The people of the State have demanded these reforms in a way there is no mistaking and, in my judgment, the time has come when they should get them. There may be some difference of opinion as to the wisdom of these measures, but these can all be adjusted and embodied in the bills that will finally be passed by the legislature."

As to Reapportionment.

In reply to questions as to his views on the reapportionment, Senator Penrose said:

"An attempt has been made in certain quarters to create dissensions over the proposed reapportionment bills. In the past the chief obstacle to the passage of such measures has always been the protest from the country districts to the centralization of legislative power in the cities and industrial centres and the corresponding loss of prestige and power. The demand for the reapportionment, however, is the result of the natural growth of population, and notwithstanding the objection of those counties that will lose members, the mandate of the constitution is plain and can no longer be ignored.

"With representative reapportionment the rearrangment is comparatively easy. It will increase the total membership of the House from 204 to 207. It is absurd to say that such a bill cannot be passed, because the figures show that of the total membership of the house at present the counties which will gain members control 81 votes, the counties which will lose control 54 and the counties which are unaffected 69. A large majority of the unaffected counties are likely to vote for the bill. With this condition I do not see how a fair bill can be defeated.

With senatorial reapportionment it is different. I do not believe that a more equitable apportionment and distribution of power can be made than the present. This is by reason of the constitutional limitations which prohibit the splitting of counties. It is almost impossible to maintain a ratio as provided and keep the number of senators to 50, as required. However, a new bill will be put through with as few changes as can be made.

Interest on State Funds.

"Regarding the increase of the interest on State funds in banks, I rather think the provisions of the bill will have to be worked out. It is a question for the important financial and business interests of the State to discuss with the legislators. It is plain that only the weaker financial institutions would be willing to pay high rates of interest for funds, for any one who has dealings with the more conservative and sounder banks knows they would refuse to enter into a competition to secure deposits which they can well do without.

"It is the sound banks in which people of the State wish to see the State's money held.

"On the personal registration and the repeal of the 'ripper' bills I believe they can be put through almost unanimously. The people, whether right or wrong, want them and should get them.

"The other subjects of the governor's proclamation will hardly meet with serious objection from any quarter and I believe the bills enacted will reflect the views of the men who have advocated such measures."

In regard to ballot reform and uniform and primary elections, the senator said: "Those subjects have been gone over thoroughly. I will say that Governor Pennypacker, Senator Knox and myself discussed the advisability of calling the special session as long ago as last summer. We had several conferences, the last at Brown's Mills, when I was the guest of the governor at his summer home. I have been thoroughly in accord with him on all these subjects. Both he and Senator Knox agreed it would be better to postpone the call until after the November election, and I think the general approbation given the governor's action shows the wisdom of the decision."

Senator Penrose said he thought the work could be accomplished in six weeks or two months at the longest, but that to do that the members will have to buckle down to work as soon as they meet in Harrisburg. He was asked if he had given any though to realigning the forces in the State, and in reply said that it was too early to discuss that matter. He also said that he did not expect to be in Harrisburg during the session, as he would have to be in Washington, where he goes on the 28th inst., attending to his senatorial duties.

End of a Fishing Case.

The case against Rev. E. J. Rosengrant for alleged violation of the fish laws, which has figured in the justice's court and more or les in the court of quarter sessions, came to a practical end on Monday by an agreement between the district atorney and counsel for the defendant to permit the case to be discharged.

While there was a technical violation of law upon the part of Rev. Mr. Rosengrant, it was evident that it was not wilful. He had set an outline and was called away by the sudden illness of one of his children, and forgot to remove the line from the water. When Fish Warden Shoemaker discovered it he arrested him.—Tunkhannock Republican.

New Money Order.

A notice has been issued from the first assistant postmaster general calling attention to the fact that on Nov. 15, a new money order was issued by the department to take the place of those now in use. Many complaints have been received about the old form of orders on account of the raising of the amount of issue, which has caused the postal authorities much trouble to rectify.

The new orders are of the same size and shade as the others, but the amount to be paid is printed on the margin and the clerk tears off the figures except that which the order calls for and thus makes is impossible for the raising of the amount of issue. The postoffice will keep a record of the transaction on a stub attached to the blank which is filled out at the time the order issued.

ARRESTED IN VIRGINIA.

Man Wanted by Lumber Company for Alleged False Pretense.

Constable Guy C. Hollon returned from Virginia on Saturday, bringing with him John T. Lynch who was arrested by him at Norfolk, Va., on Saturday on a charge of false pretense preferred by the Tioga Point Lumber company of Athens. It is said that the lumber company will lose several thousand dollars through Lynch.

He was arrested on requistion papers granted by Governor Pennypacker of this state and Governor Montague of Virginia. Lynch is formerly from this county and is a well dressed and prosperous appearing man. He was released on bail in the sum of $400 for his appearance at the next term of court. The amount charged in the indictment found against him last May only alleges the amount of $300 loss. He was located at Norfolk through his advertising a petition in bankruptcy. Attorney J. T. CURRENT COMMENT.

Opinions of Nearby Newspapers on Topics of the Day.

In speaking of the proposed reduction of the fees of the county treasurer the Bradford Star says: "In the county of Lycoming, more populous than Bradford and where a vast larger amount of money is handled every year, the county treasurer gets a salary of $1,000 a year. There is no trouble in getting good men, who can furnish the necessary bonds. If $1,000 is enough in greater Lycoming, $1,500 ought to satisfy lesser Bradford. The actual work of the treasurer's office is very slight, and he has no more need of a clerk than a dog with two tails. The treasurer is elected to perform the duties of that office, and if he is not competent to perform them or unable to give the necessary bonds, he should resign and let some one be appointed who can fill all the requirements. Scores of good men stand ready to qualify at $1,000 per year. The taxpayers are awake, and the commissioners and auditors will do well to bear that fact in mind when they meet in January."

This is the way Editor F. L. Taylor, of the New Albany Mirror, describes the late political rumpus: "Now it came to pass in the days of the reign of King Samuel in the province of Pennsylvania, that the people did meet in the public places and cast lots for rulers and captains to reign over them and execute judgment on the unrighteous, even the scalawags and boodlers who did sorely oppress them with machine politics and wicked devices, so the people came to the place where the marks were wont to be made on paper in the square place at the left hand side thereof, and behold, they marked not in the ancient way, but did split tickets, even as a man splitteth asunder wood with a broadax, and all the people said 'amen' and the people began again to rule as was ordained by their fathers of old."

JEAN'S TRIUMPH.

Forty People in Thanksgiving Night Play at Towanda.

Don't make any plans for Thanksgiving Night, but go and see "Jean's Triumph" at Hale's Opera House, Towanda, given by a cast of forty people. Your dinner will be digested after the hearty laugh over the many funny situations. This production is a benefit for the Susuehanna Collegiate Institute, where so many have received their education in days gone by.

This money will go towards bettering the condition of the interior of the building of which there is great need. If this college can be placed on a firm foundation it will be a great benefit to Towanda and the surrounding country. Those in charge feel sure the people will rally at this time, and give a packed house, thus swelling the fund started and making not only yourself happy and thankful, but also lightening the burden for many at this Thanksgiving season. You will be abundantly repaid for a long drive to witness this mammoth production as no pains have been spared to make it a grand success.

Upon her release she was still obdurate, when she was put in again for five days. The time expires today. She claims that the boy is troubled with eczema, and that it would be dangerous to vaccinate him. The committing magistrate was A. C. Dixon.

TOWANDA DEFEATED ATHENS IN FINE FOOTBALL GAME.

The Score Was Only 5 to 0 and the Contest Was Great.

The Towanda High school foot ball team defeated the Athens High school team Tuesday afternoon by a score of 5 to 0 in a fine game, well contested throughout and devoid of all disagreeable features with the exception that three men had to retire from injuries, which, however, were not caused by slugging.

The game opened with a parade by the Towanda pupils and there was a bevy of pretty girls along with flags and horns to cheer the boys on to victory. Athens also had a big delegation of girls and boys on the field and songs and cheers made things lively until the kickoff. After Towanda had kicked off she got the ball on downs and began to do heroic work in gaining through Athens line and at the ends. Athens finally got the ball and kicked to Parsons. The ball hit him on the head and Splann got it for Athens and had a clear field for a touchdown. He looked back and gave Parsons a chance to gain on him and land him with a good tackle. This saved a sure touchdown for Athens. Towanda began a battering attack and after a succession of good plunges V. Piollet went past left end for a touchdown. J. Ayers missed the goal.

Athens was stirred up by this and when play began she was at it fiercely. Big gains were made, Towanda's line crumbling before her attacks and Athens was only a yard from Towanda's goal line when time for the half was called.

In the second half Piollett was hurt and McDonald went in his place. On the next play Splann of Athens was hurt and Rogers went in. Soon Strong of Towanda had his shoulder hurt and Simonds went in. Towanda tried a quarter back kick and Athens got the ball back of the line. The teams lined up on the ten yard line and Athens made some good gains before time was called and the game was over. For Athens Kaufman played a fine game and the work of Andrews at full and little Vorhees at quarter was worthy of especial mention. Towanda's backs played a strong game throughout and the line did well with the exception of the latter part of the second half when it lost its compactness and allowed big openings for Athens's backs. There was a large crowd in attendance and the game proved an interesting one to every

Dr. T Ben Johnson was on the field when Piollet was hurt and drove him over to town. He found that Piollet had suffered the fracture of the ninth rib on the left side while the tenth was dislocated. Strong's injury consisted of the fracture of the small bone at the top of the left shoulder. Neither's player's injuries are serious but they will probably keep them out of any more games this season. The lineups were as follows:

Towanda		Athens
Rogers	r.e.	Splann
D. Ayers	r.t.	Mullins
Chubbuck	r.g.	Waters
L. Fairchild	c.	Moore
Smith	l.g.	VanScoten
Mayer	l.t.	Wright
Silverman	l.e.	Crane
Parsons	q.b.	Vorhees
Strong	r.h.b.	Carpenter
J. Ayers	l.h.b.	Kaufman
V. Piollet	f.b.	Andrews

Officials, H. M. Turner of Towanda and Mr. Luckey of Athens; time keepers, Charles Chamberlain of Towanda and Mr. Groat of Athens; linesmen, Mr. Simonds and Edward Osborne of Towanda and Mr. Dyer of Athens. Time of halves, 20 and 15 minutes.

Won From Wyalusing.

The Towanda High School football eleven defeated the Wyalusing school team at Wyalusing Friday afternoon, in a well fought contest by a score of 28 to 0. In the first half Towanda kicked off to the ten yards line; first down on the 20 yard line. By straight line plunges Wyalusing advanced the ball to Towanda's 45 yard line and lost it on downs. Towanda quickly pushed Strong over for a touchdown and J. Ayers kicked the goal. Towanda kicked off to Wyalusing on the 20 yard line. Time was called with Wyalusing in possession of the ball. Score 6-0.

In the second half Towanda kicked off to Wyalusing on the five yard line. Wyalusing ran the ball back 20 yards, gained 15 yards and lost the ball on downs. Towanda scored on a delayed pass by Parsons but failed to kick goal Wyalusing kicked off to Towanda on ten yard line. Towanda ran the ball back 30 yards. Rogers by a long run scored a touchdown; Ayers failed to kick goal. Wyalusing kicked off and J. Ayers soon made another touchdown. Score 28 to 0.

The Towanda coach states that he never received better treatment anywhere than was acorded the Towanda boys at the hands of both players and the people of Wyalusing.

Newton Platt and a man named Halbert, who were charged by Charles Lewis with stealing $20 from him, were discharged before Justice Meredith Friday there being no evidence whatever against the men.

AGAINST THE REDUCTION.

Valley Record Believes $1,500 too Low for County Treasurer.

The Valley Record, J. H. Murrelle's new daily at Sayre, has the following on the proposed reduction of the fees of the Bradford county treasurer to a sum not to exceed $1,500:

"At the present time the treasurer is entitled to 7½ mills for every dollar of county funds that he handles. Taking into consideration the amount of responsibility involved in handling these funds the rate would seem to be low enough, but Mr. Moore in behalf of his petitioners, contends that the fees should be cut in half. Granting an assumption that the treasurer under the present rate is paid too much for his services, there is absolutely no justice in the contention that the fees should be slashed in two. The office of treasurer is a highly important one. The incumbent is compelled to bond himself in a satisfactory sum for the faithful performance of his duties. Mr. Waters, the treasurer-elect, entered the contest believing that the present fees would not be disturbed. His canvass involved the expenditure of considerable money, and in asking for the office he had a right to expect that the emoluments would not be disturbed, or at least that they would not be cut to a beggarly basis.

"If the commissioners who take office the first of January next wish to act in the matter let them fix the rate for the term which is to commence three years hence, then the candidate, whoever he may be, will enter the canvass knowingly exactly how much he is to receive for his services. If this suggestion is not feasible let them at least use reason in reducing the amount. The present intention, if carried out, is a rank injustice to the treasurer-elect, and is not by any means endorsed by the heavy taxpayers who believe that the man who handles the county's money should be paid a respectable salary."

SHOT A BIG BLACK BEAR.

Sheshequin Hunter Had Good Luck Near Ralston Last Week.

Braund's meat market in Towanda had many visitors Saturday afternoon, the attraction being the carcass of a fine 300-pound black bear. Old Bruin was killed by John Shires of Sheshequin township, at Burnett's Ridge, near Ralston. Shires, with his brother, Ellis Shires, who lives in Cascade township, near Ralston, were out on Wednesday morning hunting squirrels. They came upon the tracks of two bears. They exchanged the nne shot in their guns for buck shot and soon began following the paths of beardom.

The path lay around a swamp and soon one bear was seen lying down. John Shires fired a shot at the animal and it then started up and began to run. It had not seen Mr. Shires and ran directly toward him. When it got quite near the bear raised up on its hind legs and Mr. Shires waited for a good aim and fired. The charge struck the bear in the region of the heart and it dropped dead.

The next day the hunters went back after the other bear but the snow had disappeared and the track could not be followed. Williamsport hunters who heard of Mr. Shires' luck made offers for the kill but he would not sell it. A Canton banker offered $40 for the skin and the animal will be dressed at Braund's market and some of the meat sold. The animal weighed a little over 300 pounds.

Justice Was Busy.

Justice Meredith was kept busy Thursday. Henry Manahan of Albany township, charged James Cosgrove, Julius Reithoff, Henry Rogers, Frank Malak, Wm. Oshenkopski, Fred Terry, Sam Estell and Wilson Merrick with the larceny of a hound valued at $35. Some of the defendants reside at New Albany and some in Luzerne county. A hearing will be had on Nov. 24.

Charles Lewis of Towanda, charges Newton Platt and a man named Halbert with the larceny of $20 in money from his person. Constable McCracken made the arrests. Both were later discharged for lack of evidence.

H. A. Kaufman Bankrupt.

H. A. Kaufman, a Sayre clothing merchant, formerly in business in Towanda, has filed a petition in voluntary bankruptcy with the United States court and H. Stanley Winlack, Esq., of Sayre, has been appointed temporary trustee by Referee in Bankruptcy John W. Codding. The liabilities are said by the Evening News to amount to $30,000 and the assets to between eight and ten thousand dollars.

ROUTES OF THE LEHIGH.

Business Men Want Railroad to Put New Bridge at Mix Avenue.

The adjourned November meeting of the Business Men's association was held Friday night at the grand jury room, with a large attendance of members and citizens. The most important business before the association was the matter of the Lehigh Valley's proposed change of line in this section, and John C. Ingham, Esq., of the committee recently in New York to confer with officials of the road, presented a report of that meeting. Maps of the proposed new line, providing for a bridge below town, a station at the foot of Park street, and the east of Bridge street closed to make room for tracks, was submitted for inspection.

After a discussion of the proposed route, during which objection was made to the closing of Bridge street and the circuitous undertrack road to reach the travel bridge, a resolution was passed instructing the committee to communicate with the railroad company, asking whether their plans could not be so changed that Bridge street might be crossed at grade, a watchman and gates maintained at the crossing, and an underground road at Pine street constructed for emergency use.

The committee were also instructed to urge the feasibility of the original bridge and station plans submitted to the association about two years ago, which provided for a station at Mix avenue, and tender the assistance of the association in securing rights of way and concessions for that route.

Decker's store here and is a highly competent and popular young man. Mr. Heath will be succeeded by Ezra Decker, a former Towanda merchant.

CAREER OF AN ENGINE.

Coxe Bros. Locomotive Hauls the Crane That Picked It From Ditch

To be blown to pieces on one trip to Sayre and to be picked up by a new steam crane and then, after many years, to again be in Sayre and pull the same crane is the experience of D. S. & S. engine, No.9. Several years ago, at a time when the Lehigh needed engines badly, No. 9 with D. S. & S. marked on her sides was borrowed from the Coxe Bros. interests. At that time the Lehigh had just purchased a new steel crane with a pulling strength which would permit it to pick up a heavy engine.

No. 9 was making a trip between Sayre and Coxton, pulling a train. The boiler exploded, killing the fireman and brakeman, and severely injuring the engineman. The engine was nearly demolished. The steam crane then did its first work for the Lehigh, picking up the pieces of the rent boiler. No. 9 was overhauled and partially rebuilt. Years passed and finally the Lehigh purchased the Coxe Bros.' coal properties and the D. S. & S. road. No.9 thus became a Lehigh engine and was assigned for work on the Pennsylvania division. The other day No. 9 pulled the crane that years ago picked it from the ditch.

Hanged Himself.

A young man, believed to be William Smith, of either Williamsport or Sunbury, hanged himself on the outskirts of Wellsboro on the evening of Nov. 12 by tying a rawhide strip about his neck and to the limb of a small tree, and jumping off a stump. His body was found by Nathan Hill, of Wellsboro, while hunting for a lost cow.

AGAINST LOCK CANAL

Engineers Decide by Vote In Favor of Sea Level One.

END OF THREE MONTHS' WORK

Commission Must Now Record Its Own Judgment on Findings of Board of Consulting Experts—Made Decision For Eternity.

Washington, Nov. 19.—By a vote of 8 to 5 the board of consulting engineers of the isthmian canal commission, a body which, if President Roosevelt realizes his hopes, embodied the greatest and most representative engineering talent in the world, placed itself upon record as favoring the construction of the Panama canal on the sea level. This decision represents the outcome of nearly three months' hard work. Early in September the engineers gathered from all parts of the world, for the president, desirous to avail of the best talent as well as to avoid adverse foreign criticism in the future, had called upon the governments of five great nations, distinguished for the successful construction of great hydraulic works, to send each one of their best engineers to assist the American engineers in the decision of the momentous question of constructing the Panama canal at sea level or at a greater altitude, involving a system of locks.

Await Commission's Judgment.

The commission in turn must now record its own judgment upon the conclusions reached by the board of engineers, and there is even now a belief current that that judgment will be adverse to the board's plan. However, there are two more important steps, at either of which there may be great changes proposed, for the commission must pass the plans and its own recommendations to the president, who in turn must stamp them with his own approval or disapproval and forward them to congress, which after all will be the court of last resort as between the sea level and lock canal projects, simply through the fact that additional legislation will be necessary if a sea level canal is to be built or the board finds that such a canal will cost from $75,000,000 to $100,000,000 more than the cheapest practical lock canal and will consume from five to seven years more in the construction.

One of the members gave this explanation for his way of voting:

"It may be that several of us will not see the sea level canal finished in our lifetime, as it will take longer than ten years. But when we have the satisfaction of knowing that for all the generations to follow we have made the shortest and most practical way of communication between the Pacific and Atlantic and as long as we have to decide on a question for all time we do not think that a few years more or less makes a very important difference. That is the way our party thought about it, and, whatever may be said in favor of it or against it, we have after the most careful study given an opinion as we saw our way to do it."

BIG POSTAL DEFICIT.

Year's Expenditures Exceed the Receipts by $14,572,584.

Washington, Nov. 21.—Postmaster General Cortelyou recently completed and forwarded to the secretary of the treasury the estimates for the postoffice department for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1907.

The estimates for the postal service at large—the field service—aggregate $193,000,000, an increase over last year's appropriation of about $12,000,000.

For the maintenance of the rural delivery service and its proper extension more than $29,000,000 will be required, an increase of $3,600,000 over the appropriation for the current year. The estimates for the railway mail service and railway mail transportation call for an increase of about $3,600,000.

To provide for the compensation of postmasters and clerks an increase of nearly $2,000,000 will be necessary, and for the compensation of city letter carriers an increase of more than $900,000 will be needed. That the extension of the pneumatic tube service is contemplated is shown by the fact that the estimate carries $322,000 more than the current appropriation.

The deficit for the fiscal year ending June 30 was $14,572,584.

SERVICE HELD IN SALOON.

Sale of Drinks Suspended While Crowd Sings With Evangelists.

Paterson, Nov. 21.—As a part of New Jersey's religious revival a meeting was held at Joseph J. Donohue's Main street saloon, the largest in the city, by the Rev. William Asher. The barroom, pool and billiard rooms and bowling alleys occupy a building 300 feet deep, and this entire space was crowded with men.

Seven white aproned bartenders were sprinkled through the audience, but no business was done, as Donohue had ordered that no drinks be sold while the meeting was in progress.

The Rev. J. W. Owens, head of the local committee, opened the meeting with prayer, and then Dr. Asher explained the purpose of the meeting. Mrs. Asher sang and prayed, and the crowd joined in singing "Nearer, My God, to Thee" and "There's Time Enough Yet."

Jailed For Stealing State Funds.

Crockett, Tex., Nov. 21.—A. S. Busby, former assistant financial agent of the state of Texas, was found guilty of misappropriating state funds and given a term of three years in the penitentiary.

BUSINESS BETTER.

R. G. Dun Reports Further Increase In Volume of Trade.

New York, Nov. 17.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

A temporary flurry in the money market had little deleterious effect in commercial channels, most reports indicating a further increase in the volume of business. Orders come forward freely for distant delivery, and buyers experience much difficulty in making purchases for quick shipment. Wholesale trade in holiday goods is now well under way, and retail distribution of seasonable merchandise responds to the generally lower temperature.

Manufacturing plants have scarcely a drawback except scarcity of labor in a few instances and small strikes that interrupt structural work to some extent. Traffic conditions have improved, and railway earnings for the first week in November were 4.9 per cent larger than in the corresponding time last year, while the official statement of foreign commerce for the month of October showed a very large increase. Last Saturday's bank statement showed a deficit for the first time in over three years, and call money during the week rose to 25 per cent, but liquidation in securities and receipt of funds from the interior and foreign money markets soon brought a more normal quotation. Bank exchanges at New York were 4.2 per cent larger than last year, while at other leading cities the gain averaged 8 per cent.

Commercial failures for the week were 240 against 183 last week, 202 the preceding week and 217 the corresponding week last year.

Expensive Meal For Carnegie.

Pittsburg, Nov. 19.—Fred Fleck, an old locomotive engineer of the Pennsylvania road, has received a letter from Andrew Carnegie inclosing a check for $1,000 to pay for a luncheon which Mr. Carnegie ate in Fleck's engine cab years ago when he was riding with the engineer. Mr. Carnegie, it appears, was ravenously hungry and ate the contents of Fleck's dinner pail, allowing the engineer to go hungry. He has now paid for that meal.

Fire Consumes 18,000 Barrels of Whisky

Connellsville, Pa., Nov. 20.—Fire at the Overholt distillery at Broadford resulted in a loss estimated at $1,600,000. The warehouse, 175 by 50 feet, was totally destroyed, but the distillery proper was not badly damaged. Manager C. W. Mauk estimates that 18,000 barrels of whisky were destroyed. It was nearly all eight years old, and the average value of the whisky was 80 cents a gallon.

Prices of Drugs Raised.

Philadelphia, Nov. 19.—Assertion was made before United States Circuit Judge Holland that the public has been compelled to pay $16,000,000 more a year for drugs in the six years of the existence of the National Association of Wholesale and Retail Druggists or so called drug trust.

JANUARY JONES'S Leasing and Developing Company STOCK IS IN Great Demand

The favorable developments already reported are surpassed by those that have taken place recently, and has created a big demand for the stock of this company. The fact that John McKane, representing Charles Schwab, and associate of B. J. Reilly, of the famous Reilly lease, has immediately upon the expiration of the latter lease secured a lease on the ground of the Diamondfield-Triangle Mining Company within fifty feet of the holdings of the January Jones Leasing and Developing Company, is an indication that the greatest operators in the district are following the moves of Mr. January Jones. Within only a few steps of our Triangle lease McKane and his associates are now preparing to install a powerful hoisting plant preparatory to sinking to the 200-foot level. A great force of men will be employed and the activity of the scene can well be imagined when we state that our shaft and that of the Gold Coin and McKane leases will be so close together and in such relative position as to form, if connected, the lines of a triangle the sides of which would be less than fifty feet long. So remarkable are the developments on the Gold Coin, adjoining our Triangle lease, that the owners of the lease on the former property have been offered $200,000 to sell out.

At the 160-foot level of the Gold Coin ore is being mined that runs up to $8,000 per ton, and to illustrate the proximity of the Gold Coin holdings to the Triangle, the workmen in the Trangle can distinctly hear the miners breaking down the rich ore in the Gold Coin. These developments are proving beyond doubt the magnificent judgment used by January Jones in the selection of the leases of our company and we are now assured that we own two great bonanzas—this Triangle lease and the one on the Atlanta.

That there will be an immense appreciation in the values of the company's shares is an absolute certainty and pleases us to know that we have again presented a highly profitable investment to our clients. Those who have not already invested should take advantage of the opportunity that still remains to secure a few of the shares remaining unsold out of the first allotment of 50,000 shares at 50 cents per share.

The capital stock of the January Jones Leasing and Developing Company is 200,000 shares, of a par value of $1.00 per share. Stock full paid and non-assessable. Treasury stock, 100,000 shares. For further details, prospectus, &c., address

THOMAS V. COOPER SAYS BOSSES RULE IS OVER.

Claims People Will Demand Leaders of Merit.

"The day of bosses has passed into history. There can be no more of them in American politics. And the day of lobbyists has passed at least for a long time. The people have shown a determination to have honest legislation and administration and they will tolerate no more usurpation of their powers."

Thomas V. Cooper, life-long Republican, member of the Legislature, almost continuously since the Civil war, a friend of the Plummer ticket in the recent campaign made this statement at Media Sunday with all the emphasis at his command. Famous throughout Pennsylvania as "Redheaded and Hopeful," representative Cooper says he ought now to be called "Baldheaded and Certain." "Some of my Democratic friends have tried to spread the impression that I am getting. "Baldheaded and Doubtful," he said with a chuckle, "but that doesn't apply. I keep a pretty sharp lookout and I am in no way doubtful about the continued success of the true, clean Republican party.

Don't Mean Gang.

"When I say Republican party I don't mean the 'gang' and I don't mean what has been known as the "Organization." Those are two things the future of which need not be discussed, for the simple reason that they no longer exist. From the humblest division leader in Philadelphia to the city and State bosses, that organization has been annihilated. The people who composed its machinery have been repudiated by the Republican party. Politically, they are in their graves, and for them there is no resurrection."

"How is the Republican party of this State going to get along without bosses, after having been bossed for so long?" he was asked.

"It will have leaders," said Mr. Cooper, "but the leaders will be such only so long as they display the true qualities of leadership. They will be the most meritorius men of the party, not the most cunning. And they will be selected by the people as leaders have always been selected since the world began. But they will not be bosses. There will be no more orders given, and no more contralization of party power."

Bosses are Downed.

"How will the old bosses fare when they assume the role of leadership in the new conditions?" asked the correspondent.

"No attention will be paid to them. A few of them, of course will have some power because of their personal following, but that will be comparatively insignificant, and will not affect conditions at large.

AN AWFUL SKIN DISEASE

Sores Covered Neck and Cheeks—Itched Day and Night—Nothing Did Me Any Good—Was Growing Worse.

CURED BY CUTICURA AT COST OF $4.50

Miss Nellie Vander Wiele, of Lakeside, N. Y., writing under date of April 18, 1904, says: "I do wish you would publish this letter in the newspapers, so that others suffering as I have may see it and be helped. I suffered for many months with an awful skin disease, sores covering my ears, neck, and cheeks. Scabs would form and they would swell, and itch day and night. Then they would break open and blood and matter run out. I had tried many different remedies, but none of them did me any good. I was growing worse when I tried the Cuticura Remedies. The first application helped me, and when I had used two cakes of Cuticura Soap, three boxes of Cuticura Ointment, and three bottles of Cuticura Resolvent, I was completely cured."

TORTURING, DISFIGURING

That Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills are such stands proven beyond all doubt by the testimony of the civilized world.

NOTES OF GRANGES.

HISTORY OF COUNTY GRANGE.

Organizations are Urged to Contribute Each Its Own Part—State Grange Meets at Sunbury in December. Some Thoughts at Pomona Meeting.

(Communications to this column should be addressed to A. T. Lilley, LeRoy, Pa.)

The new road law is gaining favor among the farmers and it is hoped that all interested in good roads will make a thorough study of its provisions.

Under a late act of the legislature school boards may choose as secretary a person who is not a member of the board.

It is pleasing to note that more school teachers are taking an interest in Nature's studies. The uptodate teacher, whether in the school room or in the pulpit, is a lover of nature's works and is ever on the alert to instruct the pupils, whether young or old, in all that appertains to the names, beauties and worth of nature's productions. It is quite certain that there is not on an average one person in each township who knows the different kinds of forest timbers of the county, either by the leaves, bark or timber or by all of these together.

The physical geography of Pomona district No. 23 is full of interest to the intense lover of the miraculous ways shown in the make up of the rock-ribbed shell of the earth filled with the remains of life forms of countless ages only known to the reader of the pages of the book of rocks, made of the countless sands and clays, to preserve the history of "the long ago."

Only four of the large attendance at the last Pomona meeting were, and have been members of the order during the past 32 years. Very soon there will be none left to tell the story of the grange from its beginning in the county. A brief history of the grange is desired by many. Feeling this to be so, and having been the first lecturer of the Bradford county council, the first organization of the order in this district, it appears to be a duty, at least, to lend a helping hand before it is too late. In 1876, we prepared a brief article for Craft's History of Bradford County. This contains the names of the first master and secretary of each grange prior to that date, also other data. We would now be pleased to have a brief history of each grange. If the master of each grange will appoint a historian to write and then report to us the the history may be prepared at an early date. Who will be the first to report? Give just such a brief history as pleases the writer and then we will do the best we can with it.

The National Grange is now in session at Atlantic City. There is a full delegation and much enthusiasm in the work. Many questions of interest to the order, and in fact to all agriculturalists, are being discussed by the leaders as well as lawmakers of the order. This great organization is safe under the management of the men and women assigned to the high positions of the order.

Durng the second week of December the state grange will be in session at Sunbury. The 30 granges in Bradford and Sullivan will be entitled to 60 representatives, the most of whom will be in attendance. Many others from the district will attend most of the sessions. This state organization has a large amount of work on hand that should be considered with much care. Many of the representatives are now in the work but it is quite certain that the leaders will have the wellfare of the order so in hand that all will be well.

Thoughts picked up at the recent meeting of Pomona at West Franklin: "Brothers and sisters are equal in the grange." Let the office seek the man, and not the man the office." "I have confidence in the grange for the members know a good thing when they see it." "Sisters are elgible to any office in the grange." "The chronic grumbler must partake of his own medicine." "Words of charity die when the proclaimer's looks and acts give them the chills of anger." "The litle things in agriculture are of the greatest importance." "The woman behind the chicken brooder rules the chicken world." "The politician may farm the farmer a part of the time but his strained honey may not always keep." "The dancer keeps time with his feet while the singer keeps it with his tongue." "In this life good and evil have always been associates, therefore, be charitable." "Clover seed does not grow outside of the realm of the bumblebee." "The grange is the best of farmer's schools." "The smoothest speech may conceal thorns."

Historical Socety Meeting.

The regular meeting of the Bradford county Historical society will be held Saturday afternoon, Nov. 25, at 1:30 o'clock. Special features will be the discussion of historical subjects and opening a most inviting question box. A special invitation is extended to the History clubs of Towanda, teachers and pupils of the public schools.

Defendants Discharged.

Lyman Heeman, Sr., and the same, Jr., and Fred Heeman were before Justice Orcutt Tuesday, charged with stealing a sack of flour, a tub of butter and some household goods from the Lehigh Valley railroad. The evidence was not enough to hold the men, in the opinion of the justice, and they were accordingly discharged.

YEARLING BROOK TROUT.

Will Be Distributed From Canton As a Center.

On Saturday night there arrived at Canton one of the United States Fish Commission cars containing 40 or 50 cans of yearling brook trout which were sent there, it being the first trip to Canton of one of the government cars. It drew quite a crowd to the station. The car was switched until Sunday night and side trips were made.

The trout were quite good size, many of them being about five inches long, and it was said that the spawn from which they were hatched came from the Yellowstone Park and that the fish commissioners have been experimenting with this variety of trout. It is said that more trout have been sent into Pennsylvania this year from the government's hatcheries than any four states combined, which is due to the mountainous country which contain so many streams adapted to trout. Heretofore the trout have come from the state hatchery and have been what are called fry, tiny fish, while the last were of such size to enable them to take good care of themselves until caught. The fish commission is under control of the bureau of commerce and labor.

SERIOUS FIRE AT ROME.

Wilmot Brothers' Mill Was Destroyed on Sunday Morning.

Rome experienced a serious fire on Sunday morning at 3 o'clock that resulted in the entire destruction of the sawmill owned and operated by Wilmot Brothers. The fire is supposed to have originated in the engine room, and had gained such headway when discovered that nothing could be done to save it. All the lumber in the mill was burned but that piled in the yard adjoining was saved.

The plant consisted of a saw mill, planing mill, grist mill and cider mill. The loss is estimated at $8,000, with no insurance. This was the old Wilmot mill and had been conducted in Rome borough for over 20 years. The owners, Claude B. and Charles L. Wilmot, will probably not rebuild.

Reagan—Schrier.

Charles Reagan of Waverly, and Miss Anna Schrier, of Athens, were married in St. Joseph's church Tuesday evening, Nov. 14, at 7:30 o'clock by Rev. M. P. O'Rourke.

Miss Lulu Kirkland and Miss Martha Wenderlick, of Corning, were the bridesmaids, and Miss Anna Spellman, of Athens, was maid of honor. Joseph Reagan, a brother of the gromo, was best man. John Kramer and Edward Leahey, of Athens, and Harry Storms and Michael Falsey, of Waverly, were ushers. The flower girls were Marjorie Harding, of Waverly, and Marguerite Mayhood, of Athens. Mendelsshon's wedding march was played by Mrs. Sullivan, organist of the church, acompanied by J. I. Morley, violinist.

After the ceremony a reception was given to the wedding party and the immediate relatives at the bride's home on Willow street.

Suicided on Lover's Steps.

A tragic culmination of a love affair took place shortly after midnight Friday morning at Pittston when Mary Lydon, 21 years old, took carbolic acid on the doorstep of the home of Lawrence Langan, to whom it is said she was engaged to be married, and died a few minutes after being taken into the Langan home. The tragedy occurred less than a half hour after the young lady had bidden goodbye to her friends, saying they would not see her for a long time. Langan, who is about 20 years old, lives with his family in Oregon, in rear of Tompkins street.

Cat Embalmed.

A strange thing occurred at Newark Valley last week. Mrs. George Griner, who lives on Whig street, lost her pet cat. A reward of $2 was offered to anyone who would return the cat. Some boys found it dead near the creek and brought it to her, receiving the reward. Mrs. Griner then had the cat embalmed, ordered a white casket suitable for a little child from the undertaker, bought a headstone, sent to Owego for flowers and the little thing lies in state at the Grines home. The burial was held this afternoon at 2.—Owego Record.

THE ALBANY WAY.

Hatch Hill Social Function is Reported by The Looking Glass.

Last Saturday night Mrs. C. W. English returned to her lawful hubby after an absence of several months and their neighbors on Hatch Hill thought it wise and prudent to celebrate the event by a serenade with the buzz-saw band and shot gun accompaniment.

Accordingly they gathered at a spot near the blissful abode of Curtis and Edith and prepared to knock the knots off of the monotony with great swelling bursts of thundrous melody. Tom Hakes was loading his artillery with a new brand of shells, and in snapping the breech shut, the firing pin struck the cap in the shell. It exploded and Liss Smith was in the way. The charge struck Smith on the outside of the thigh tearing away a piece of flesh about three inches wide and one inch deep.

It is an ugly wound and will lay Mr. Smith up for some time. He was taken home and Dr. Kingsley called to dress the wound. Of course that ended the serenade.—New Albany Mirror.

Eat Hog, Eat Grubs.

The biggest apple crop of Seneca county belongs this year to L. D. Burroughs, of Conoga. His orchard has produced 2,800 bushels, which at the prevailing prices would net $1,800. The Burroughs orchard is a wonder to the agricultural experiment stations and scientific farmers. Mr. Burroughs does not believe in spraying the trees, and while the apples in this belt do not average half a crop where trees have been sprayed the Burroughs trees have a full product. It is the owner's belief that the spraying mixtures act as a dope on the trees, making them inactive in bearing. His method is to turn a drove of hogs into the orchard early in the spring to root out the grubs.

Carpenter—Morley.

Miss Matie A. Morley was married to Lloyd Carpenter of Laurel Hill on Wednesday evening of last week at the home of her mother, Mrs. L. A. Morley, in Green's Landing at 8 o'clock by Rev. W. H. Sawtelle in the presence of only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties. Mendelsshon's wedding march was played by Mrs. B. F. Wheeler, a sister of the bride. J. I. Morley, a brother of the bride acted as best man and Miss Maud Carpenter, sister of the groom was bridesmaid. Mr. and Mrs. Morley have a large circle of friends who extend congratulations. They will reside in Greene's Landing.

Some Recent Weddings.

Harry L. Emery and Miss Margaret Connor, both of Sayre, were married at the M. E. parsonage at Waverly on Wednesday evening of last week by Rev. J. F. Warner.

Myron Grant and Miss Anna Duhlstein, both of Milltown, were married on Wednesday night of last week at the M. E. parsonage at Waverly by Rev. Godshall.

William Haley of Mildred and Miss Louise Sinsabaugh of South Waverly were married at St. John's church in South Waverly by Father O'Reilly at 5 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon of last week.

Locked Buck's Horns.

J. Morg. Brown's collection of curios was increased the other day by the present of two sets of locked buck's horns. The two pairs of horns probably became locked together in a fight between the two bucks and even their death struggles could not separate them. It was a case of the victor starving to death after killing his adversary. The horns were sent to Mr. Brown by some friend in Troy.—Wyalusing Rocket.

Smithkors—Walker.

Mrs. Eleanor L. Walker, of Sayre, formerly of Towanda, and Henry Smithkors of Wilkesbarre, an engineman on the Lehigh Valley, were married at 9 o'clock on Thursday evening at the home of the bride. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. J. F. Warner, pastor of the M. E. church and was witnessed by a few friends and relatives. After the ceremony a wedding supper was served.

Sunday Funerals Prohibited.

Rev. Father Connelly, pastor of St. Gabriel's Catholic church, Hazleton, announced this week that in the future no burials will be permitted to take place in St. Gabriel's cemetery on Sunday. The Hazleton church has discouraged Sunday funerals for some time, but since they continued, it was deemed prudent by the pastor to make an imperative order against them.

Attacked By a Wild Cat.

Awakened by a noise, they struck a light and discovered a huge wild cat ready to spring. Harney wounded the animal, which fircely attacked the men. Harney then fired a second shell which killed it.

Against Foot Ball.

To whomsoever these presents shall come greeting:

Resolved; That we, the students of Saint John's school at Manlius, drop the game of football after playing out the season, except among ourselves on our own grounds;

The football as it is now played is more for college than for prep. school;

That professionalism and fake scholarships are largely responsible for the unnecessary roughness, slugging and demoralizing influences of an otherwise noble game;

That we endorse President Roosevelt's efforts to cleanse the game.

Adopted this nineteenth day of October, ninteen hundred and five.

Students of Saint John's School, Manlius, New York.

Game Warden in Trouble.

According to the Valley Record of Sayre, Game Warden Shoemaker of Laceyville tried to find out whether a party of Wilkesbarre hunters on a Valley train had any ferrets with them. He was promptly slapped in the face by one of the hunters. Then the other members of the party began to crowd around the officer of the law and it looked as though things might get serious when the conductor of the train appeared. It is reported that he told Shoemaker that his presence wasn't needed and Shoemaker got off the train, while the passengers indulged in glee. Shoemaker has complained to Supt. Kinney about his ejection from the train.

Must Have Liquor License.

United States Commissioner John W. Mix has received notice from the commissioncr of internal revenue that after Dec. 1, 1905, all persons selling medicines composed of distilled spirits or other alcoholic compounds must take out a retail liquor dealers' license. This requires the payment of $25 per year. All the Towanda drug stores have taken out this license for a number of years as they sell whiskey and other alcoholic medicines on prescriptions. The new ruling will come hard on the small country stores which carry a small line of medicines in which there is a greater or less percentage of alcohol.
